

INSIDE HOUSING

news, views and jobs in social housing

Pocket Princess

A little bit of royalty to end the day.

Princess Anne met with affordable housing developer Pocket in London last week to find out what intermediate housing can do to help cities.

The Princess visited in her capacity as president of the Commonwealth Study Conferences, which intends to develop cultural intelligence and build links across the Commonwealth. She is pictured with Marc Vlessing, Pocket chief executive.